Missoula City Cemetery

2024 Stories & Stones Guidebook

September 15, 2024

Noon – 3:00 PM

2000 Cemetery Road, Missoula, MT 59802

Included in this guidebook are the historical figures whose stories will be recounted during this year's event as well as the name of the storyteller. Brief summaries of the person's life are provided for most but not all presentations.

The City of Missoula acknowledges that the Missoula Valley is the ancestral land of the Séliš (Salish or "Flathead") and Qlispé (Kalispe or "Pend d'Oreille") Nations and was and is a place also utilized by other Indigenous peoples, who settlers forced from the area under the direction of the U.S. government. The history provided in this guidebook by no means lessens the importance of these Indigenous peoples or the impact on them but tells the stories of those who created, are interred in, or are connected to the Missoula City Cemetery.

Histories and Presenters

Edward Boos

(Presenter: David Severson)

Edward H. Boos was a newspaper reporter for the Daily Missoulian and in 1897, he accompanied the 25th Infantry US Army "Buffalo Soldiers" as their official reporter. The men road bicycles from Missoula, Montana, to St. Louis, Missouri, to demonstrate the utility of the bicycle as a military tool. Eddie was a huge bicycle "enthusiast." He will discuss bicycles of his day, his admiration for the Buffalo soldiers, and read from his dispatches about the trip. In later years, he took photographs of the original native peoples around Missoula and the Flathead, worked in journalism with his father, and was ad manager at the Missoula Mercantile Company, which was part of the "The Octopus," the sprawling and ultra-powerful empire of Copper King William Clark.

Birth: April 1, 1877 – Kentucky

Death: September 26, 1937 (age 60) – Missoula, MT

Grave location: Grave 6 - Lot 15 – Block 025

Frank Borg

(Presenter: Kevin Borg)

During the nearly sixty years that Frank Borg lived in Missoula, he had an active part in helping the community grow. He owned and operated the Borg Jewelry & Optical Company for nearly 48 years, while also serving on many boards and civic committees and organizations.

The day after his death, the Missoulian newspaper printed, "It is fitting that each time the clock in the tower of the County Courthouse strikes the hour, Missoula has reason to recall memories of Frank Borg. He installed the clock that has given faithful service for more than 45 years. In Mr. Borg's death yesterday, Missoula suffered a real loss."

Birth: December 22, 1875 – Carleton, MO

Death: November 22, 1955 (age 79) – Missoula, MT

Grave location: Grave 5 – Lot 14 – Block 19A

Jean Clark and Hazel Simonton

(Presenter: Karen Devries)

JEAN CLARK (7)
MISSOULA, MONTANA

HAZEL SIMONTON (7)
MISSOULA, MONTANA

“This is the story of two women who left their homes in New Jersey with nothing but faith and some suitcases, to move to Montana to see what God had in store for them.”

—Jeremy Brown

God would lead them to Missoula and use them to teach the Bible to children up and down the western part of the state through Bible clubs and summer vacation Bible schools. Eventually, they began a camp ministry in 1947 and in 1961 purchased land on a small lake in the Flathead valley, developing this property through the years. Big Sky Bible Camp is still thriving and growing today. They also began a Sunday school for adults and children in a small community near Missoula where today there is a church and building.

Jean

Birth: September 29, 1910 – Arbroath, Scotland

Death: October 14, 1997 (age 87)

Grave location: Grave 2 – Lot 20 – 12B

Hazel

Birth: April 10, 1912 – Paterson, NJ

Death: January 3, 1997 (age 84)

Grave location: Grave 1 – Lot 20 – 12B

Jerrold Daniels

(Presenter: Tim Ballard)

Jerrold “Jerry” Daniels lived a rich life in his brief 40 years on earth. In the late 1950s, he trained as a smokejumper and fought fires across the western United States. He was then recruited by the CIA and worked to fight Communism in Southeast Asia. In the final years of his life, he did all he could to ensure that U.S. allies in Laos found safety and a chance at a fresh start in the United States and around the world. Jerry’s life is a thrilling glimpse into the day-to-day battles of the Cold War and a touching reminder of the power of loyalty and friendship.

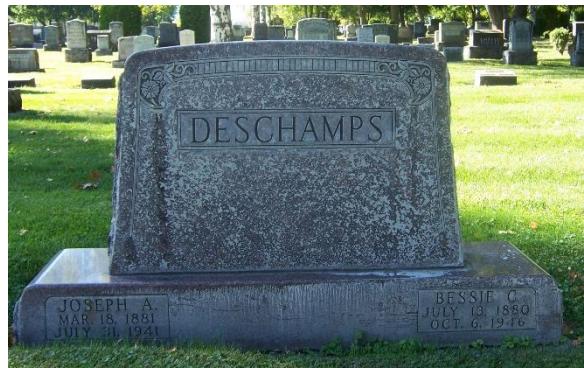

Birth: June 11, 1941 – Palo Alto, CA

Death: April 29, 1982 (age 40) – Bangkok, Thailand
